Chapter 1 — A Boy Called Hans Pedersen of Skee (1833–1847)

This chapter follows Hans Pedersen (P18), the father of the emigrant Hans Peter Petersen. Everything here comes from Danish church books and censuses. No family memory reaches back this far.

Born at Valsømagle

Hans Pedersen was born on 25 February 1833 at Valsømagle, a village in Haraldsted parish, Ringsted district, Sorø county, on the island of Zealand (S51, S52, S53). He was baptized in Haraldsted church on 31 March 1833, which was Palm Sunday (S51, S52). The church stood only about 2 miles straight-line from Valsømagle, so the walk from the village to the font was a short one (S51, S53). Valsømagle is still a village today, about 4 miles from Ringsted; the church books give no farm or house for the birth, so the place to stand is the village street itself (S51, S53; map, 55.4933, 11.8213). Haraldsted Kirke still stands on Haraldstedvej in Haraldsted, 4100 Ringsted, with its churchyard — the kirkegård — around it (map, 55.4915, 11.7682). It is the same church where he would be confirmed fourteen years later (S51, S52, S56).

The parish clerk entered him as uægte, meaning born outside marriage (S51, S52). His mother was an unmarried servant (pige / tjenestepige) from Valsømagle. Her name was Ane Marie Hansdatter (P25; Genealogist locked the patronymic 2026-11-03). The kontraministerialbog copy of the 1833 baptism writes her as Hansd., set interlinear over a struck word (S52). Fourteen years later, at his confirmation, the book again calls her Ane Marie Hansd. (S56). The parish move lists around the birth year use the same form and trace her back and forth to Ringsted, in this order. First, Haraldsted's departure list records Ane Marie Hansd., 28, tjenestepige (servant girl), leaving for Ringsted; the date is only a ditto mark, read as roughly November 1832 to January 1833 (S60; date LOW). Next, Ringsted's own departure list for 1833 has Ane Marie Hansdatter, 28, tjenestepige, moving to Haraldsted (S106; a likely but unverified match to her). Then, on 30 March 1833, Haraldsted's arrival list records Ane Marie Hansd., 28, tjenestepige, come from Ringsted (S59). This was the day before her son's baptism. About a month later, around 1 May 1833, Haraldsted's departure list records Ane Marie Hansd., 28, tjenestepige, leaving the parish again, and the destination is clearly Ringsted (S151; cleared by Alex, Decision 3, 2026-11-03, read with S59). Where she went in Ringsted is not known. No Ringsted arrival entry for her has been found, even though the 1833 arrival list was searched, May–October included (S108, S157). So the trail stops at the Haraldsted departure, and no street or house in Ringsted can be named as the place she arrived. The hovedministerialbog baptism once read as Clausdatter (S51); after Alex reviewed the images, that reading was set aside as superseded and Hansdatter was locked. A later eye-read of the same parents cell offered Larsdatter (S276); like Clausdatter, it is a discarded alternate read, not a second name for her. Her parents are still unknown. A birth date of 23 March 1805 is only a CANDIDATE, not proven. Ringsted town lies roughly 4 miles straight-line from Valsømagle, so the mother's moves and the named father's home both sat within a morning's walk of the child's birthplace (S51, S59, S60).

The same baptism names a man as the child's father. In Danish church books an udlagt barnefader is the man the mother named as father; the entry is not proof of paternity. The 1833 Haraldsted baptism writes Peder Johansen of Ringsted as that named father (S51). A fresh look at the original page bears this out: the letters of the surname take the shape Joh-, not Jørg- (S275). A FamilySearch index once read the name as Peder Jørgensen; that reading is a mis-index and has been set aside (S275). The 1847 confirmation repeats the same wording: Uægte Søn af Pigen Ane Marie Hansd. og udlagt Barnefader Peder Johansen — illegitimate son of the girl Ane Marie Hansd. and named child's father Peder Johansen — with pleiefader (foster father) Huusm. Jens Nielsen of Skee (S56). So the record is settled on one point: the mother, Ane Marie Hansdatter, named Peder Johansen of Ringsted as the father, and the confirmation lists him again fourteen years later (S51, S52, S56). Genealogist has locked him as Hans's recorded, named father (P34; cleared by Alex 2026-11-03; S51, S52, S56, S275). What the books cannot settle is biology. A named father is not a proven one, no DNA or later record shows that Peder Johansen was in fact the father, and no marriage between Ane Marie and Peder Johansen has been found. The man who raised Hans was his foster father, Jens Nielsen of Skee (S56; P26). The controversy is part of Hans's beginning: the books name a father; the evidence does not close the case.

A year after the baptism, the census of 1834 lets us see the named father for the first time as a living man rather than a name in the margin. In Ringsted town, on the street called Sankt Hans Gade, the census lists Peter Johansen, about 30, ugift (unmarried), a tjenestekarl — a servant, a hired manservant — placed in the household's servants (Tjenestefolk) bracket (S64). Genealogist has cleared him as the same man as the Peder Johansen of Ringsted named in the baptism and the confirmation (P34; Alex, Decision B, 2026-11-03; S51, S52, S56, S64). So the father the mother named was, in 1834, an unmarried hired man of about thirty, working in service in Ringsted town, not a farmer or a householder. Sankt Hans Gade is still a street in Ringsted today, now spelled Sct. Hansgade, 4100 Ringsted, and it is the place to stand for Peter Johansen's 1834 residence (map, 55.4445, 11.7908). The census gives no house number, so no particular house is claimed; the street itself is the visit place. That is his place in the world as the records show it. It still does not prove he was the biological father; it tells us who the named man was.

One more clue sits on the same census pages, and it is only a clue. Also listed on Sankt Hans Gade is an Ane Marie Hansdatter, 27, unmarried, a tjenestepige (maidservant), in another servants' bracket (S63). Her name and age fit Hans's mother, but she is a CANDIDATE match only, not proven to be the same woman (P25). The census does not place her in Peter Johansen's household, and no marriage between Ane Marie and Peder Johansen has been found. The street is pinned here only as Peter Johansen's 1834 residence. Because Ane Marie is only a candidate, this story does not say as fact that the couple lived on the same street, and nothing suggests they shared a house. The May 1833 departure to Ringsted (S151) also does not prove where the mother lived in town; the two records are separate.

The world he was born into

The records tell us where Hans was born; the encyclopedias tell us what that country looked like. Valsømagle and Haraldsted lay in Sorø county (Sorø Amt): in 1798 the old Ringsted county had been merged into it, and only a few years after Hans's birth, in 1837 and 1841, the parishes and market towns were made into local municipalities of their own (K1)(K2). Ringsted, about 4 miles from Valsømagle, was the market town for the parishes around it (K2).

Haraldsted itself was an old place even then. In the Middle Ages it had been a royal estate and a pilgrimage village, because Duke Knud Lavard was murdered in the nearby forest in 1131 (K4) (K5). The parsonage that still stands southeast of the church — the præstegård named in Chapter 1's 1797 betrothal — is a thatched, half-timbered four-wing house rebuilt after a fire in 1789, so it was barely forty years old when Hans was baptized (K6; S222). The sources do not say that Hans or his mother ever went inside it.

The countryside had been remade within living memory. The villages of the Ringsted district were enclosed — the old shared fields split into separate holdings — in roughly 1780–1810; some farms stayed in the village and others moved out onto their own land (K1). Farms dominated this district, and cottagers (husmænd) were few compared with farmers (K1)(K11). Those are district-wide statements; how many farms and houses Valsømagle or Skee had in 1833 is not in the sources used here.

Denmark in 1833 was still an absolute monarchy: the king ruled without a parliament, and would until the June Constitution of 1849 (K15). The old stavnsbånd, which had tied peasant men to the estate where they were born, had been abolished in 1788, some forty-five years before Hans was born (K18). The 1814 school ordinances had made schooling compulsory for ordinary children (K20); which school served Skee or Valsømagle, and whether Hans attended it, is UNVERIFIED and not found in the records.

A foster son in Skee

Hans did not grow up with his mother. On the census of 18 February 1834, when he was one year old, he was living in the village of Skee in Haraldsted parish, about 3 miles straight-line from Valsømagle where he was born and about 3 miles from Haraldsted church. He was listed as a pleiebarn (foster child) in the household of Jens Nielsen, a cottager (husmand) and wheelwright, and his wife Kirsten Johansdatter (S54).

He was still there at the next two censuses:

- 1 February 1840: "Hans Pedersen, 6, unmarried, foster child" in the household of Jens Nielsen, 49, and Kirsten, 44 (S55).
- 1 February 1845: "Hans Pedersen, 12," born in the parish, now called a pleiesøn (foster son) (S57).

So from his first year until at least age twelve, the cottage of Jens and Kirsten in Skee was his home (S54, S55, S57). No record found so far shows that the foster parents were related to him or to his mother.

The records show that Jens Nielsen worked as a wheelwright (S54). Many years later, Hans himself would be a wheelwright, a hjulmand (S36, S37). The sources do not say who taught him the trade. We can only note that he grew up in a wheelwright's home, and that by 1850 Jens Nielsen was still entered as huusmand and, in a hard-to-read word, perhaps hjulmager (S58). The thread of the trade runs unbroken from the foster father's cottage to Hans's own marriage entry fifteen years later (S36).

Confirmation, 1847

On 11 April 1847, the first Sunday after Easter, Hans was confirmed in Haraldsted church. Confirmation was not optional: it had been compulsory in Denmark since 1736, and it required the young person to pass a test of what they had learned (K19). He was entered as boy no. 3: "Hans Pedersen of Skee," born 25 February 1833 at Valsømagle and vaccinated 29 June 1833 by Aschlund (S56). The full confirmation line is the richest single sentence we have for his childhood: Hans Pedersen af Skee … Uægte Søn af Pigen Ane Marie Hansd. og udlagt Barnefader Peder Johansen — Pleiefader Huusm. Jens Nielsen i Skee (S56). In one entry the parish records his foster home in Skee, his mother as Hansd., and the named father from Ringsted, whose biological fatherhood is still unproven. Folio 41, no. 1026, is the book's own reference for that confirmation (S56). A visitor today can walk the churchyard that surrounds Haraldsted church — the ground he crossed on his baptism day and again at fourteen (S51, S56).

A betrothal at the parsonage, 1797 (CANDIDATE)

One older record may reach back toward Ane Marie's own family, but it is not proven. On 21 May 1797, at Haraldsted Præstegaarden — the parish parsonage — the widower (enkemand) Hans Pedersen and the girl (pige) Maren Hansdatter, written Maren Hans D., both of Walsøemagle (Valsømagle), were betrothed, trolovede (S222). They were married on 15 October 1797 (S222). The betrothal and the place are clear in the record. Whether this couple were Ane Marie's parents is Provisional — a CANDIDATE only: a daughter named Hansdatter from the same village would fit, but her own baptism has not been found, so nothing ties her to them yet (S222; P25). Even the bride's name leans Maren rather than Marie, but that too is still being checked.

The parsonage still stands about 80 metres southeast of Haraldsted church, at Haraldstedvej 91 (map, 55.4910, 11.7692). It is a working private home and parish office today, so the place to stand is the road or the churchyard side, not the grounds. The record does not say in which room the couple stood, and this story does not guess.

What we do not know yet

- Whether Peder Johansen of Ringsted was Hans's biological father remains open. He is locked as the recorded, named father (P34; S51, S52, S56, S275) and, by Decision B, as the 1834 Sankt Hans Gade tjenestekarl (S64); biological paternity is not proven, and no marriage to Ane Marie has been found.
- Where Ane Marie Hansdatter went in Ringsted after she left Haraldsted around 1 May 1833 is still open. No Ringsted arrival entry has been found (S151; S108, S157 negative).
- Who Ane Marie Hansdatter's parents were, and when exactly she was born, is still open. Her patronymic is locked as Hansdatter (P25), but 23 March 1805 is only a CANDIDATE birth date. A Valsømagle couple, Hans Pedersen and Maren Hansdatter, betrothed at the Haraldsted parsonage in 1797 (S222), are a CANDIDATE pair for her parents only — her baptism is missing, and they are not locked as her parents.
- Whether the Ane Marie Hansdatter, 27, tjenestepige, on Sankt Hans Gade in 1834 (S63) is Hans′s mother is not proven; she is a CANDIDATE match for P25 only, and the census does not place her in Peter Johansen′s household.
- At the census of 1 February 1850 Hans, then about 17, was no longer in the Skee foster household (S58). Where he was living that year has not been found.
- The years between 1850 and 1862 are blank in our records. The next time we see him, he is a young man working at Bjernedegaard in Bjernede parish (Chapter 2).

Chapter 2 — Bjernede: A Marriage, Four Children, and Loss (1862–1884)

This chapter covers Hans Pedersen (P18) and Ane Rasmusdatter (P19), their sons, and the second family Ane started after she was widowed. The facts come from the Bjernede church books, Danish censuses, and a 1884 property deed. These people are documented in records, but the family did not hand down their names. Alex has confirmed the birthplace (Bjernede) and the birth year (1864) of Hans Peter (S30).

The wedding, 14 October 1862

On 14 October 1862, Hans Pedersen married Ane Rasmusdatter in Bjernede church in Sorø county (S36). The register calls him a bachelor (ungkarl) and a wheelwright (hjulmand), born 25 February 1833 at a place the clerk wrote as something like "Walsmagle" — Valsømagle, about 8 miles straight-line from Bjernede (S36, S51). It calls her a maiden (pige), born 17 June 1843 (S36). Her birthplace was entered as what may read "Bjernede Lodsgaard," but that reading is uncertain (S36). Her parents have not yet been found. Bjernede church, where they married, lies about 6 miles straight-line from Haraldsted church, where Hans had been baptized and confirmed (S36, S56). Bjernede Kirke still stands at Bjernede Kirkevej 1A, 4180 Sorø — Zealand's only surviving round church, about 5 km (3 miles) northeast of Sorø, built probably in the 1160s–70s by Sune Ebbesen of the Hvide family (K8)(K9; map pin from Places Scout) (map, 55.4621, 11.6251). The same building saw this wedding, Hans Peter's baptism and confirmation, and the burials of his baby brother and his father (S31, S32, S36, S37, S41).

The Denmark of their wedding

Hans and Ane married in a different Denmark from the one Hans had been born into. Under the June Constitution of 5 June 1849 the king gave up absolute power and a parliament, the Rigsdag, was created. Men over 30 with their own household could vote, except people convicted of crimes and people on poor relief (K15). The records do not say whether Hans ever voted.

The railway had come, too. In 1856 the western line from Roskilde was extended to Korsør, and Ringsted, Fjenneslev, and Sorø all got stations that year — about six years before the wedding and about ten before Hans Peter's birth (K2)(K22). Nothing in the records says the family ever rode it.

Many houses in the Danish countryside had been built during the enclosure years and often stood together in cottager colonies (husmandskolonier) at the edge of the village fields; few new ones were built after 1810 (K11)(K24). The family's place name, Bjernedegaardshuse — "the Bjernedegaard houses" — sounds like such a cluster, but whether it was one is UNVERIFIED. What the records do say is Hans's trade: he was a wheelwright, hjulmand, at his wedding, at Rasmus's baptism, and at his burial (S36, S43, S37).

A first son who lived one day

Their first child was a boy, born 17 January 1863. The register labels him "1st child" (S42). He died the next day, 18 January, and the entry seems to say he died unbaptized, so he never received a name (S42).

Hans Peter, 1864

Their second son was born on 28 February 1864 and baptized in Bjernede on 5 June 1864 as Hans Peder Pedersen, son of Hans Pedersen and Ane Rasmusdatter (S31). He is the man who later became Hans Peter Petersen of Redwood County, Minnesota. Alex has confirmed that this is "our Hans" (S30).

He was born into a war year. Denmark's war with Prussia and Austria over Schleswig began around the start of February 1864 (exact start date UNVERIFIED in the sources used here) (K23).

On 18 April 1864 the Dybbøl position was stormed — more than 35,000 Prussian troops against about 10,000 Danes — and the Danes fell back to Als (K23). By the Peace of Vienna, later that year (treaty date UNVERIFIED here), Denmark gave up the duchies (K23). So the whole war ran through Hans Peter's first months, between his birth on 28 February and well after his baptism on 5 June (S31, K23). No record says that his father or any man of Bjernede served, and how the war was felt in Sorø county is not known from the sources used here.

Rasmus, winter 1866–67

A third son, Rasmus Pedersen, was born on 10 December 1866 at Bjernedegaardshuse and baptized in church on 23 January 1867. The register gives his father's trade as wheelwright (S43). Rasmus died on 5 February 1867 and was buried on 10 February (S41, S43). The dates put him at about eight weeks old, but the burial entry's age column seems to read "12 Dage" (12 days), a reading marked uncertain (S41). The two books do not agree, and this story leaves the discrepancy open.

Hans Pedersen's death, September 1867

Seven months later, the father died too. Hans Pedersen, wheelwright of Bjernedegaardshuse, died on 11 September 1867 and was buried at Bjernede on 17 September. He was 34 (S37). The burial entry calls him "Søn af Ane Marie Hans Dat.(?)", another Hansdatter-style reading of his mother's name (S37; see Chapter 1). Hans Peter was three and a half when his father was laid in Bjernede churchyard (S31, S37). Baby Rasmus had been buried in this churchyard seven months earlier (S41). No grave from 1867 is known to survive; the family can stand in the churchyard where both were buried, not at a marked grave. The cause of death in the register is too hard to read, so this chapter leaves it out.

Bjernedegaardshuse, Bjernedehuse, Bjernede

The books name the family's places in three overlapping ways: Bjernedegaardshuse (the houses belonging to Bjernedegaard) for Rasmus's birth and his father's death in 1866–67 (S37, S43), Bjernedehuse for the half-siblings' births in 1871 and 1874 (S39, S47, S48), and plain Bjernede in the censuses (S44, S33). All of it lies within about a mile of Bjernede church. Which house the family lived in has not been proven. A visitor can walk among the houses of Bjernede, for example near the Stokholtsvej area about a kilometre east-southeast of the church, but no single house can be named as theirs.

A widow and her boy, 1870

On the census of 1 February 1870, Ane appears as "Anne Rasmusen," 27, a widow. She is living in a house in Bjernede with her son "Hans Peter Pedersen, 6" (S44).

A second marriage and a second family

In spring 1870, Ane married Hans Rasmussen in Bjernede. The day of the wedding cannot be read (S38). He was a widower marrying for the third time, and this was her second marriage (S38). The death record of Hans Rasmussen gives his age as 83 in 1883 (S46), so he was much older than Ane. His birth year is given differently in different records (S38, S46).

Hans Peter gained two half-siblings:

- Rasmus Peter Rasmussen, born 1 March 1871 at Bjernedehuse and baptized 4 April 1871 (S39, S47).
- Ane Marie Rasmussen, born 24 October 1874 at Bjernedehuse. Her baptism is recorded as 10 January 1875 in one book (S40) and 11 January 1875 in another (S48).

Hans Peter's confirmation and the 1880 census

Hans Peter was confirmed in Bjernede on Palm Sunday, 14 April 1878. His parents were entered as boelsmand (smallholder) Hans Petersen and Ane Rasmusdatter, and his birth date as 28 February 1864 (S32).

On the census of 1 February 1880, a "Hans Peder Pedersen, 15," appears as a stepson in the household of Hans Rasmussen and Ane Rasmussen in Bjernede (S33). Parts of this entry are hard to read.

1883: the household ends

Hans Rasmussen, a smallholder (bolmand) of Bjernede Huse, died in early July 1883, about the 2nd, and was buried a few days later. The exact days are hard to read (S46). His father is named as Rasmus Hansen (S46).

Three days or so earlier, on 29 June 1883, an "Ane Marie Rasmussen," age 40 and the wife in her second marriage of smallholder Hans Rasmussen of Bjerne Huse, died. She was buried on 5 July 1883 (S45). Provisional: she is very likely Ane Rasmusdatter, because the husband, age, and second marriage all match. But the entry calls her "Ane Marie" and does not name her parents, so the identification is an inference (S45). What is certain is that the confirmation records of both younger children say that both parents were dead (S47, S48).

The estate of matr. 5a, 1884

Hans Rasmussen had owned a property in Bjernede parish recorded as matr. no. 5 A af Bjernedehuse (S50). On 13 November 1884, his estate and that of his late wife sold it to J.P. Mathiesen, a miller of Gyrstinge, for 13,000 kroner (S50). Gyrstinge lies about 3 miles straight-line from Bjernede. It was one of the bigger villages of the Ringsted district, with 24 farms, and unlike most of its neighbours it had belonged to Sorø Klosters Len after 1536 (K1). The deed also required the buyer to honor an existing lease to Indsidder (lodger) Hans Andersen, running from 12 December 1867 (S50). The deed describes the property as having "hitherto belonged" to Hans Rasmussen (S50). Hans Pedersen did not own it (S50), and whether young Hans Peter ever lived on 5a is not proven. A mortgage bond of 3,600 kroner was recorded as owed to "the minors Rasmus Peter and Ane Marie Rasmussen," children of the late Hans Rasmussen and his wife (S50).

The orphaned half-siblings went to foster homes:

- At his spring 1885 confirmation, Rasmus Peter's foster father was farmer Rasmus Rasmussen, of a place read as Fuldby (S47).
- At her autumn 1888 confirmation, Ane Marie's foster father was smallholder Anders Larsen of Bjernedehuse (S48).

Hans Peter was 20 by the time of the sale and does not appear on the deed (S50). By then he had already left Denmark (Chapter 3, S83).

What we do not know yet

- Ane Rasmusdatter's parents and her baptism.
- The cause of Hans Pedersen's death.
- Rasmus's age at death: about eight weeks by the dates, "12 Dage"(?) in the burial entry (S41, S43).
- Whether Ane Marie Rasmussen of 1883 is Ane Rasmusdatter (Provisional, S45, S50).
- Which house in Bjernedehuse was Hans Peter's childhood home.
- Who Hans Rasmussen's first two wives were.
- What happened to Ane Marie Rasmussen after 1888.

Chapter 3 — Hans Peter Crosses to Minnesota (1884–1922)

This chapter covers Hans Peter Petersen (P6) and Maren Sophia Jensen (P7). It draws on Danish emigration and church records, US censuses, Minnesota death records, and Find a Grave. Find a Grave is a secondary source. Michael Don Petersen has confirmed that Hans Peter and Maren Sophia were Elmer's parents.

Leaving through Copenhagen, April 1884

On 16 April 1884, the Copenhagen Police emigration register recorded "Hans Peter Petersen" of Bjernede, Sorø, age 20, occupation entered as Tjenende(?) — in service, a hired servant (medium-confidence reading), heading for Springfield, Minn., under contract no. 1015 Y, with no companions listed on that contract (S83; earlier index summary S34). The register does not say why he left, and this story does not guess. Every later American census agrees that he came in 1884 (S27, S28).

He was about two months past his twentieth birthday (S31, S34). His father had died when he was three (S37). At the time he left, his mother and stepfather were already gone (S45, S46), but the 1884 sale of his stepfather's property was still months away (S50).

Registration took place in Copenhagen, about 40 miles straight-line from Bjernede (S83). The register does not name a ship, a pier, or a route (S83). Springfield, the town he named as his destination, lies about 22 miles straight-line from Redwood Falls, the county seat of Redwood County, where he would farm. Morgan, the town whose newspaper later reported his death, is about 13 miles from Springfield (S83, S145). The records do not show how he travelled from his US arrival to Redwood County.

Marriage to Maren Sophia Jensen, 11 March 1891

Hans Peter's wife was Maren Sophia Jensen. She was born in November 1872 (S13, S27). The censuses disagree on where: the 1900 and 1910 censuses say Minnesota (S27, S28), but the 1920 census says Denmark (S29). Find a Grave also says Minnesota (S13). The records lean two to one toward Minnesota, but this story leaves the question open. Her parents were Nels Peter Jensen and Anne Marie Hansen Jensen (S13). On 11 March 1891, Hans Peter and Mary S. Jensen were married at Redwood Falls, the county seat of Redwood County, Minnesota (S272). The original marriage record survives in the Redwood County marriage book and has been viewed (S272). On the affidavit his name is written "Hans Peter Petersen"; the license on the same form spells it "Hans P. Peterson" (S272). "Mary S." is the same woman this story calls Maren Sophia; the 1900 census also lists her as "Mary" (S27, S272). Two witnesses signed: Niels Jensen and J. L. Byram (S272). The record does not say how either witness was related to the couple, if at all, and it gives no ages or parents, so this story says nothing more about them or about the ceremony itself (S272). The date fits the 1910 census, which says the couple had been married 19 years (S28).

The farm in Brookville Township

The censuses place the family in Brookville Township, and in 1910 and 1920 they owned their farm (S27–S29, S271). Where in the township that farm stood has not been found, so this story names only the township where they farmed, not the farm itself.

1900. On 19 June 1900, the census taker for Brookville Township, Redwood County, listed the "Hans Peterson" household (S27). Hans was born in February 1864 in Denmark. He had come in 1884, had been in the US 16 years, and had taken the first step toward citizenship (marked "Na"). His occupation was farmer (S27). His wife was listed as "Mary," and the children were Nels A.

(born October 1891), Hans O. (May 1893), Annie H. (January 1895), Louis C. (October 1896), and Mary S. (May 1898) (S27).

1905. The 1905 Minnesota state census found Hans P. Petersen, 41, born in 1864 in Denmark, still in Brookville Township (S273). With him were Maren S., 32, and three children: Niels A. 13, Hans R. 12, and Anna H. 10 (S273). The "Hans R." of 1905 may be the same boy as the 1900 "Hans O." and the 1910 "Rudolph H.", but that is not proven; this story gives the name exactly as the census wrote it (S27, S28, S273).

1910. On 23 April 1910, the family was still in Brookville Township. Hans P., 45, was a farmer who owned his farm (S28). Maren S., 37, born in Minnesota, was recorded as the mother of seven children, all seven living (S28). The children at home were Rudolph H. 16, Anna H. 15, Louis C. 13, Marie E. 11, Ethel M. 8, and Elmer H. 4 (S28).

1920. In January 1920, Hans P., 55, born in Denmark with Danish as his mother tongue, still owned his farm in Brookville Township, though the census marked it mortgaged — the farm was his, but there was still a loan on it (S29, S271). It was now a dairy farm, and he worked it for himself, not for wages (S29, S271). The same census says he came in 1884 and was naturalized in 1897 — by then a citizen of his new country (S271). At home were Maren S., 47, and Anna H. 25, Ethel M. 17, Elmer H. 13, and Olga M. 8 (S29). This census gives Maren's birthplace as Denmark, but the 1900 and 1910 censuses both say Minnesota (S27, S28, S29); see above.

The children

The children named in the records are:

- Nels A., born October 1891 (S27)
- Annie (Anna) H., born January 1895 (S27, S28, S29)
- Louis C., born October 1896 (S27, S28)
- Mary S., born May 1898 (S27). The 1910 census lists a daughter "Marie E.," 11 (S28).
- Rudolph H. Petersen, born 8 May 1893 in Minnesota; mother Jensen; died 13 April 1964 in Hennepin County (S95). He appears as "Rudolph H.," 16, in 1910 (S28). The 1900 census lists a son "Hans O.," born May 1893 (S27); Genealogist treats that as the same boy, because the birth month and year match Rudolph's MNHS dates (S95). No record yet explains the change from Hans O. to Rudolph H., so the match rests on the dates.
- Ethel Mathilda Petersen, born 15 January 1902 in Brookville Township (S92, S152); married Werner Jensen 3 January 1923; died 20 October 1929 (S152). She appears as Ethel M., 8, in 1910 (S28).
- Elmer Hamilton Petersen, born 24 March 1906 in Redwood County. The Minnesota birth index registers him as "Babe" Petersen, mother Jensen (S94); later records use Elmer (S14, S15, S28). He is our line (Chapter 4).

- Olga Margaret Petersen, born 28 February 1911 in Redwood County; mother Jensen (S93). She appears as Olga M., 8, in 1920 (S29). Death year 1935 is still from Find a Grave only (S15).

Altogether, seven children were living in 1910 (S28), and Olga was born afterward (S93, S29), for eight children.

Hans Peter's death

In September 1922 the Redwood Gazette reprinted a Morgan Messenger notice: Hans P. Petersen, age 55, of Brookville Township about two miles east of the Brookville church, died suddenly about 4:30 in the afternoon of heart trouble and complications while sitting in a chair. He had been ailing for some time; funeral arrangements were not yet made. He was survived by his wife and several children, unnamed in the notice (S145).

The records do not quite agree on his name. The newspaper calls him Hans P. Petersen (S145). A Minnesota death index — the FamilySearch copy of the Minnesota Historical Society index — lists a Hans T. Petersen who died 6 September 1922 in Redwood County, certificate 011514 (S274). Alex has noted that the "T." may be a typo in the index, but the death certificate itself has not been seen, so the difference stays open (S145, S274). This story calls him Hans P. / Hans Peter, the name Alex has chosen to use. The date 6 September 1922 also stays a candidate only; the newspaper alone does not prove the calendar day (S145, S274).

He is buried at Dannebod Cemetery in Brookville Township, Redwood County (S12). The cemetery dates from 1876 and was the burial ground of the Danish Fredsminde church, built in 1889 (S20). The wording on his stone has not yet been transcribed. The burial itself comes from Find a Grave, a secondary source, so it is held at medium confidence (S12). The cemetery is easy to find: on 180th Street just west of Skyview Avenue, near Cobden, with a historical marker on the north side of the road and the Fredsminde church monument behind it, where the church stood from 1889 to 1961 (map, 44.31115, -94.89040).

Find a Grave places Maren Sophia's death in 1937 and her burial at Dannebod (S13). A Minnesota Historical Society death confirmation for that year was not approved in Genealogist's MN Pack #5, so the 1937 date and the Dannebod burial both stay secondary (Find a Grave) for now (S13).

Chapter 4 — From Elmer to Alex (1906–present)

This chapter carries the line from the Minnesota farm to today. It uses Minnesota death indexes, Find a Grave (secondary), obituaries, and family testimony. Living members of the current household are left out on purpose.

Elmer Hamilton Petersen and Caroline Schultz

Elmer Hamilton Petersen was born on 24 March 1906 in Redwood County. He was the son of Hans Peter Petersen and Maren Sophia Jensen (S14, S15). The Minnesota death index lists his mother's maiden name as Jensen (S14). He appears as Elmer H., age 4, in 1910 and age 13 in 1920, on his father's Brookville Township farm (S28, S29).

His Minnesota birth index entry records him as "Babe" Petersen, mother Jensen, on the same date (S94); later records call him Elmer (S14, S28).

His wife was Caroline Alvina Minnie Schultz, born on 21 March 1908 in Sundown Township, another township of Redwood County (S16). Her death record lists her mother's maiden name as Geske (S17). Their son Donald's record lists Donald's mother's maiden name as Schultz (S19). Find a Grave gives 1931 as the year Elmer and Caroline married (S15, S16). No marriage record has been found yet.

They had two sons, Darvin and Donald (S15, S18, S19).

Darvin Wayne Petersen was born on 28 March 1932 in rural Evan, Minnesota (S278). Evan is a small village in neighboring Brown County (map, 44.3540, -94.8410); the exact farm where he was born has not been identified (places/evan-mn-rural.md). He served in the US Air Force during the Korean War and went on to a career in aviation (S278). A veterans' burial listing gives his rank as first lieutenant; his obituary does not mention it, so that detail is less certain (S279). On 27 June 1954 he married Anna Maye Hansen at Bethany Lutheran Church in Morgan (S278, S280). The church stands at 27220 County Highway 13 (map, 44.4452, -94.9873) (places/bethany-lutheran-morgan.md). Anna Maye was born on 3 October 1933 in rural Morgan (S280). They raised five children: Dwight, Daniel, Diana, Douglas, and Deborah (S281). Darvin died on 29 June 2007 in Wolfeboro, New Hampshire (map, 43.5848, -71.2122; where in town is not known; places/wolfeboro-nh.md), survived by his wife and all five children; his only brother, Donald, had died before him (S278). He was brought home for burial at Bethany Lutheran Cemetery in Morgan, where his parents rest (S278, S279). The cemetery is understood to share the church's grounds, though that is not fully confirmed, and his grave's exact spot has not been checked (places/bethany-lutheran-morgan.md). Anna Maye died on 10 May 2014 (S280).

Elmer died on 24 October 1964 in Redwood County (S14, S15). Caroline died on 8 August 1984 (S16, S17). They share plot North 9 in Bethany Lutheran Church Cemetery in Morgan (S15, S16), about 13 miles straight-line from Redwood Falls.

Donald Alvin Petersen and Janice Elaine Dohrmann

Donald Alvin Petersen was born on 23 July 1935 in Redwood County (S18, S19). He served in the US Army from 15 March 1955 to 14 March 1957, with the 82nd Airborne (S1, S2). His gravestone reads "SP 3 US ARMY" (S18).

Janice Elaine Dohrmann was born on 23 July 1938 in Sleepy Eye, Minnesota, to Wesley Edward Dohrmann and Ethel Bertha (Neubauer) Dohrmann (S1, S2, S148, S149). Ethel was born 27 November 1911 in Brown County and died 7 June 1994 in Brown County; her mother's maiden name was Gent (S148, S149). She and Wesley, who married in 1935, rest in Home Cemetery in Sleepy Eye (S89, S150). A Find a Grave bio for Wesley that says he married "Ethel Gent" misstates Ethel's maiden name (S89). Both readings are on record: the Find a Grave bio says Gent; the Minnesota birth and death indexes say Neubauer, with Gent as her mother's maiden name (S148, S149). The indexes settle it. She and Donald married on 14 September 1957 at the Methodist Church in Sleepy Eye (S1, S2). Her obituary says they farmed in Paxton Township as the second generation on the family farm (S1). Paxton Township is a township of Redwood County. For scale, Sleepy Eye, where they married, lies about 26 miles straight-line from Redwood Falls and about 13 miles from Morgan.

Their first son, Randy Don, was born on 30 July 1958 and died on 18 October 1958 in Redwood County, not yet three months old (S18, S283). Four more sons followed: Rick, Michael Don Petersen, Chad, and Bill (S282). Michael was born on 5 August 1961 (S0, S2). Donald and Janice had five sons in all (S282).

Donald died on 13 June 1980 at age 44 and is buried in Redwood Falls Cemetery (S18, S19). In 1986 Janice married Loren Jacobsen (S1). She died on 18 April 2025 in Redwood Falls, at age 86 (S1, S2, S3, S4). Her obituary lists her four living sons as of 2025: Rick (Kim) and Mike (Mary) of Redwood Falls, Chad (Heather) of River Falls, Wisconsin, and Bill (Kimberlee) of Hutchinson, Minnesota (S282).

Michael and Alex

Michael Don Petersen is Alex Petersen's father (S0). Michael confirmed the family link back to Hans Peter Petersen and Maren Sophia Jensen (S0). Alex then matched the Danish records to "our Hans" (S30).

That is where this first telling of the story ends: with Alex, five generations after a twenty-year-old from Bjernede gave his name to the Copenhagen police and set out for America (S83).
